Reviews of Me

This is where you can view the Reviews to your different Responses for that event.

The screenshot shows the 'Reviews of Me' section for a 'Demo Event'. The prompt is 'Tell me what your favorite pizza is'. The user's response is shown in a large video player. To the right, there is a smaller video player showing the reviewer. Below the reviewer's video is a table with three columns: Overall, RPR, and RPS. Below that is another table with two columns: Intelligence and Confidence. Both tables have a 'Rows per page' dropdown and navigation arrows.

Overall	RPR	RPS
4	1.43	1
1	1.07	2
1	0.77	3

Rows per page: 6 1-3 of 3

Intelligence	Confidence

8	5
6.5	10

Rows per page: 6 1-3 of 3

For each of your Responses you can view the prompt again, view your Response again, and investigate your Overall scores, Relative Performance Ratio (RPR), and Relative Performance Standing.

- Overall score is the number assigned to your response by the reviewer on a scale of 1-10.
- Relative Performance Ratio (RPR) is your Overall score divided by the average score your reviewer gave for this prompt. An RPR greater than one means this review was rated higher than the average response given. RPR is calculated at the conclusion of an Event's round.
- Relative Performance Standing (RPS) represents the ordinal result (1st, 2nd, etc.) that this user placed with respect to a reviewer for a prompt. RPS is calculated at the conclusion of an Event's round.
